

WV Climate Action

September 20th-27th, 2019

West Virginians, let's take action!

Millions across the world are using their voices to demand action on climate change. Greta Thunberg and thousands of students have led the way and they're asking other students and adults to join in. West Virginians, let's demand a stable climate, stable jobs, and a just transition toward renewable energy.

- Talk about climate action with your family members.
- Make posters and walk outside and take pictures to share.
- Use social media to spread the word #WVClimateAction #JustTransition #Fridaysforfuture
- Have a lunch-in where you discuss climate and energy at your workplace.
- Participate in a video conference with WV Delegates working to guide the state toward a just energy transition.
- Call your city council and government representatives to ask about their plans for a just transition to renewable energy for WV workers.
- Something else!
